For this challenge, we are given a Youtube link, <https://youtu.be/CrB58R36onw>. The video doesn't seem to contain anything particularly interesting as does the audio. Scrolling down a bit, we see a message in the video description.

We see that there is a link in the description. Opening the link leads us to an Imgur page.

Oof, we got rickrolled. `riftCTF{rick roll'd}` is just a bait and isn't the correct flag.

Looking at the hint, we see that the correct flag is in plain sight and that the flag format is `riftCTFflaghere`. So, we backtrack and go back to the video description and look closer.

Result: We look more closely at the fake, rickroll link, http://bit.ly/riftCTFnow_you_see_me, and see that the flag is actually right in front of us in the link.
